CITIES CAN DECIDE ON TAX HIKE: STRATTON

About Town

And Country
By TIMOTHY T.

Harrisburg to Hold Clean Up Days Next Week

GOT ANY CANS around your place? Piles of cans which have served their usefulness and are lying open and rusting in a pile some place?

Got any old debris out in the yard, down in the basement or up in the attic that you've been planning to get hauled away for a long time and just haven't got around to it?

Got a pile of ashes that should have been moved but is still there at the back although you probably quit burning coal for the season several weeks ago?

Anything else around that needs cleaning up?

BROTHER, now is the time to do it, because we're having official Harrisburg Clean-up Week next Tuesday and Wednesday and we want to get our town looking clean and neat for the summer season.

Clean-up Week can be a success if the public co-operates. It can flop dismally if it doesn't. No matter how many trucks, how many workers are on the job those two days, the town won't look a bit better Thursday unless the people of the community clean up their premises. Not just a few, but everybody. Practically everybody, anyhow.

MAYOR CLAUD GIBBONS is in charge of this drive. One merchant, Lloyd L. Parker, promised right off the bat that he would furnish a truck and trucks and help to pick up the stuff. The city street department will furnish help. And today Fire Chief L. G. Martin was to contact other merchants and haulers to secure help for the two days or at least for part of the time. There will be more information later.

THE THING for you to do, however, will be to clean up your premises, put the stuff you clean up in crates or boxes, then place the boxes near the curb either late Monday or real early Tuesday. That's the end of it for you.

Isn't that easy? Just box up your junk and let somebody else haul it off?

HUMOR DEPT.: This is a good rainy weather story.

Charles, the minister's young son, was so naughty the day before the church picnic that his mother decided to punish him severely by making him stay home from the picnic.

The next morning, however, she relented, and told Charles he could accompany the rest of the family after all.

To her amazement, Charles received the good news glumly.

"What's the matter, Charles?" she asked. "Don't you want to go to the picnic?"

"It's too late," Charles replied bitterly. "I've already prayed for rain."

Carrier Boy is Found Unconscious In Yard in Rain

Mickey Smirnes, news carrier for the City News agency, was found unconscious in this morning's rain by a passer-by and was rushed to the Lightner hospital in an ambulance from the Gibbons funeral home.

Smirnes was seen in the yard at the Lynn Clark home, South Webster and Sloan, by a youth driving by, who called the city police.

Chief of Police Ross Lane said the boy was unconscious when he arrived, that he was carried to a porch, where he gained semi-consciousness. He said he did not know what had happened.

Some theorized that the boy had been hit by lightning but others thought he probably became ill and fainted as he was riding his bike with his two packs of morning papers. He was ill yesterday and did not work, it was learned.

The boy was found face downward in the yard near the sidewalk.

Benjamin White, 92, Dies at Equality

Benjamin White, 92, native and life long resident of Equality, died yesterday afternoon at his home.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Lou White Burnett of Equality.

The body is at the A. K. Moore funeral home where the funeral will be held at a time to be announced later.

U. P. Manager In Singapore Fatally Beaten

Gene Symonds, 29,
Killed During
Red-Inspired Riots

SINGAPORE (U.P.)—Gene Symonds, United Press manager for Southeast Asia, died today in a hospital from a beating inflicted by striking bus employees and Chinese students in Singapore's Communist-inspired riots.

Symonds, 29, of Dayton, Ohio, was covering the riots when a mob dragged him from a taxicab at a government road block and beat him with stones and sticks until he fell unconscious in the streets.

He did not regain consciousness and died at 2:50 p. m. in a hospital despite an emergency operation and blood transfusions.

Eyewitnesses said a police van was parked nearby but that no attempt was made to aid Symonds, a veteran correspondent who covered the Korean war. Several other police cars later passed without stopping and Symonds lay unattended for half an hour.

Later a police van rushed him to a hospital where it was found he suffered a fractured skull.

Full Explanation Asked
United Press Vice President Earnest Hoberrecht in Tokyo instructed the Singapore bureau to ask Singapore authorities for a "full explanation of this unlawful and uncivilized attack on a United Press correspondent."

The Manila Evening News said in an editorial it was "shocked" to learn of the action and had appealed for prayers for Symonds.

The frenzied mob which roamed the strike area for hours, turning over European cars and stoning Europeans and policemen, beat Symonds so savagely he suffered fractures of his left leg and right forearm.

Symonds became chief correspondent and manager for the Philippines in 1951 after a stand-out performance as a war correspondent in Korea. It was one of the first foreign correspondents to arrive on that war front.

Working in the New York bureau, Symonds was alerted for his Korean assignment the day the war broke out. Five days later he was in Tokyo.

His new tour of duty was something of a reversal of duties. Up until that time he had been a member of the U. P. Foreign Department in New York, writing news of the United States for countries overseas.

Joined U.P. in 1947

Symonds joined the United Press in the fall of 1947. His first job was in the U. P. bureau in Columbus, Ohio, where he had attended Ohio State university following his discharge from the Army in 1946.

During his military service he was a staff member of the Mediterranean edition of Stars and Stripes, was special news editor of the Armed Forces Radio Service station in Gorizia, Italy, and for a time reported for the Rome Daily American in Italy.

Officials believed the waves of strikes were engineered by the Peoples Action party which is attempting to force the collapse of the new Labor government led by David Marshall. The PAP is led by a fiery Chinese lawyer who in recent weeks has demanded immediate independence for Singapore and "down with colonialism."

Mrs. Lolo Eddy

Mrs. Lolo Eddy To Resign from Faculty at HTHS

Mrs. Lolo Eddy, director of the dramatics department, English and speech teacher, and sponsor of Thespian Troup 16 at the Harrisburg Township high school, has announced that she will resign at the end of the present school term, after having taught for 19 years on the HTHS faculty.

Mrs. Eddy came to HTHS in 1936, after having taught in the grades and also in high school. In obtaining her college education, she received a bachelor degree at Eastern State Teacher's college and a master's degree at Columbia university in New York City. She also attended the University of Mexico one summer.

Mrs. Eddy will be remembered for presenting many outstanding plays throughout her 19 years at HTHS. Some of these plays are "Arsenic and Old Lace," "You Can't Take It With You," "Guest in the House," "Little Women," "The Curious Savage," "Room for One More," "The Man Who Came to Dinner," "Lost Horizon," "Night of January 16th," "Ghost Wanted," "A Date With Judy," and many more.

Mrs. Eddy lists the year 1953 as her best year at HTHS in the speech contests. That year she had three of her dramatic students — Myra Burnam, Frank Chase, and Margie Zimmer — winning medals in the State Speech contest.

Mrs. Eddy is the mother of two children, Mrs. Robert A. Gibson of Landsberg, Germany, and Dr. L. J. Eddy.

She has accepted a position as sales manager for Compton's Pictorial Encyclopedia and will remain in Harrisburg.

Powell Bill Bans 'Dumping' Of Natural Gas

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)—A bill to prevent alleged "dumping" of gas to industrial users at extremely low rates was introduced by two coal mining area legislators.

The bill, sponsored by Democratic Reps. Paul Powell, Vienna, and Clyde L. Choate, Anna, would prohibit public utilities from granting rate preference on quantity purchases of natural, manufactured or liquid petroleum gas.

Powell and Choate, both from coal mining areas, previously have charged gas companies hurt the coal industry by selling to industrial users at below cost prices during the summer when home and other small quantity sales fall off.

A bill introduced in the Senate would make radio and television stations subject to suit for libel for statements made by political candidates on their facilities. Under present law, the stations are exempt from criminal liability for libelous or defamatory statements made in political speeches.

The bill was introduced by Sen. William J. Connors (D-Chicago), and would bring television under the same libel and defamation provisions as radio.

It would make truth a sufficient defense in libel cases only when published with "good motives" and for "justifiable ends."

Another bill introduced in the Senate would permit cities to use motor fuel tax funds to extend mileage of designated arterial street systems by 10 per cent after 80 per cent of the existing system has been improved satisfactorily.

IVC Office to Close Monday to Wednesday

Dulles Arrives In Austria for Treaty Signing

Foreign Ministers
Also to Arrange
Date for Big 4 Talks

VIENNA, Austria (U.P.)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew to Vienna today to join the other Big Three foreign ministers in signing the Austrian state treaty and to arrange for a later Big Four meeting of heads of government.

Dulles, almost mobbed by photographers when he arrived from Paris, told reporters:

"I have traveled to many countries on many missions but I have never felt more satisfaction than to come here to sign this treaty."

He added that the successful completion of the treaty negotiations which will set Austria free for the first time since 1938 was "a central goal" of American policy.

An Impromptu Parade

He expressed admiration for the "courage and steadfastness of the freedom-loving people of Austria."

Austrian Foreign Minister Leopold Figl said it gave him "great joy" to welcome Dulles to Vienna to sign the treaty which is "particularly due to American help."

Dulles and his party moved into downtown Vienna in what amounted to an impromptu parade.

The route was lined with cheering Austrians. The streets were decked with flags. Austrian motorcycle police in white helmets cleared the way.

Austrian maidens in rainbow-hued peasant festival dresses sang and broke into impromptu folk dances as Dulles passed. Austrian farmers hoisted flaming steins of beer and glasses of country wine in toast to the American.

Coup for West

Ambassadors of the United States, Britain, France and Soviet Union met today to initial the completed draft of the treaty restoring Austria's freedom and ending 16 years of four-power occupation.

The tough Western negotiating at the five-power treaty conference produced an Austrian "solution" better than the West—and Austria—ever dared to hope. It was a brilliant coup for the West though Russia was able to "neutralize" Austria in the cold war.

Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay announced they would look over the draft of the treaty during the day. It is to be signed by the Big Four foreign ministers Sunday.

Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov flies in Saturday from Warsaw where he is attending an eight-power Communist conference to set up an "anti-NATO" military alliance.

The four foreign ministers held their first meeting at dinner Saturday night when they began working out arrangements for a meeting this summer among President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden, French Premier Edgar Faure and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin. Dulles is host.

Air Force Ousts Officer for Part in Murder

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The Air Force has dismissed Lt. George C. Schriber from the service because of his part in the murder of a South Korean.

Schriber has served 20 months of a five-year term at the Lompoc, Calif., disciplinary barracks. Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbot Thursday cut his sentence and ordered him freed.

Schriber, one of three Air Force men implicated in the wartime murder, loses all GI rights and veterans benefits under the order. Airman Thomas L. Kinder, 21, Cleveland, Tenn., testified he shot the Korean under orders from Schriber, an Air Force police officer. Kinder was sentenced to two years but was returned to active duty a year ago and his dishonorable discharge order suspended.

The third person involved, Sgt. Robert W. Toth, 23, Pittsburgh, Pa., was accused of pistol whipping the Korean. He was taken into custody by the Air Force and returned to Korea for trial after he had been discharged.

The question of whether the Air Force has jurisdiction over Toth has been argued before the Supreme Court. But it has handed down no decision yet.

Mrs. Norma Howell Critically Injured In Auto Crash

A Harrisburg community woman was critically injured late yesterday in a crash on Route 13 east of the city.

She is Norma Howell, 29, in Lightner hospital suffering a punctured lung, broken ribs, a badly lacerated right arm and other injuries. Her home is six miles west of Harrisburg on Route 13.

Her husband, Kenneth Howell, who formerly operated the Nash automobile sales in Harrisburg, was in Tucson, Arizona, and he departed by automobile last night after learning of the crash.

However, at the time it was not believed her injuries were as serious as was determined following x-rays, and he was driving through by automobile. Efforts were being made this morning to contact him en route to inform him of the seriousness of her injuries so that he could possibly come to the remainder of the way by airplane.

State Policemen Adolph Sweat and Roy A. Lane investigated the crash, which occurred at Berry Hill about five miles east of town about 5 p. m.

They said she was driving alone, headed west and was coming into the Berry Hill curve on the east side of the hill when the crash occurred. The officers said she apparently hit the curve at too high a rate of speed because the auto skidded 200 feet from the highway into a wooded area on the south side of the highway.

She was rushed to Lightner hospital in a Gaskins ambulance.

Public Hearing May 16 on River Conservancy Dist.

A public hearing will be held at 10 a. m. Monday, May 16, at the court house on the proposition of organizing a River Conservancy district for Saline County, it was announced today by a committee composed of Paul Hilliard and Joe M. Hart.

They said the purpose of organizing a River Conservancy district is to take advantage of the approval by the U. S. Army Engineers of the Saline River Flood Control project. "But," they stated, "we must have a legal organization that the army engineers can deal with."

"When this project is authorized by congress and the appropriation of $6,000,000 is made, it will mean that a large part of this money will go for labor," they explained.

Also, the district will be empowered by law to store and impound water. This water can be sold to industries and municipalities, which in time will lower the small tax that will be necessary to carry on. When industries seeking new locations find out we have a large supply of water it will be an inducement to help them make up their minds on locating in the county, especially with its large unemployment where they can get all the labor they need."

They said one reason the Warren Petroleum Co. did not locate in Saline county was that it could not be promised enough water for its requirements.

Riley Funeral at Ridgway Saturday

Article Claims Vaccine Ruined By Vial Stoppers

NEW YORK (U.P.)—The New York World Telegram and Sun said today that "an unforeseen chemical reaction involving stoppers on thousands of vials of stockpiled anti-polio vaccine turned the vaccine into worthless fluid that had to be junked."

"This chemical snafu explained, in part, the disappearance of 10,000,000 Salk shots early this month," Staff Writer William Mitchellfelder wrote for the Scripps-Howard newspaper.

He said it would also explain the discrepancy between the manufacturers' original production figure and the amount of vaccine made available.

"It would also explain," he said, "why the promised 17,200,000 cubic centimeters were never delivered as promised May 1. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis found itself with 7,200,000 shots from the manufacturers as of May 1, or 10,000,000 shots short."

Mitchelfelder said the "missing" vaccine was actually ineffective vaccine which had been stockpiled and then destroyed by the manufacturers. He said he had learned that wholesale destruction of the worthless fluid began a month ago.

"Scientists for one major manufacturer," the story said, "discovered that merthiolate, a preservative, had generated copper particles in the vaccine by its action on vial stoppers."

The copper particles set up an other reaction which weakened the immunizing qualities of the vaccine. About two months were needed to ruin the potency, the manufacturers discovered. When the situation was realized, millions of cubic centimeters were deliberately poured down the drain. The new batches were made with new chemicals added.

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—A spokesman for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said today that the unfitness of merthiolate as a preservative in anti-polio vaccine was realized by Dr. Jonas E. Salk "well back in 1954."

He said Salk discovered during the 1954 field trials that copper atoms from the rubber vial stoppers reacted with the merthiolate to form another chemical which gradually weakened the vaccine's effectiveness.

Power, Phone Service Hit by Rains, Lightning

Rains continued, lightning knocked out power and telephone service this morning and water came down the spillway at Lake Harrisburg.

Harrison Kibler reported that Harrisburg got 1.31 inches of rain and Galatia .64 inch during the period 7 a. m. yesterday to 7 a. m. today. But heavy rains have fallen today to add to the total.

Reports from Eldorado were that there was a cloudburst there early today that flooded some of the streets.

Millard Lynch, manager of the Harrisburg exchange of the General Telephone Co., said that lightning knocked out all toll line service to the south, that between 125 and 150 telephones were out in Gaskins City and that there was scattered line trouble as a result of this morning's lightning but that workmen were repairing the disruptions as quickly as possible.

Power was off in Harrisburg this morning for 22 minutes and several instances of lesser trouble was reported by the Central Illinois Public Service Co.

City water department employees went to the city reservoir pumping station at mid-morning to make arrangements to turn on the pumps that send water from Middle Fork into the reservoirs, as the creek rose.

Gen. Taylor is Nominated for Chief of Staff

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—General Maxwell D. Taylor was nominated today by President Eisenhower to be Army Chief of Staff, replacing General Matthew B. Ridgway, who will retire June 30.

Taylor is now Far East Commander in Chief of all United States and United Nations forces. He will be replaced in those two commands by General Lyman Lemnitzer.

Lemnitzer now commands army forces in the Far East and the Eighth Army.

The White House said Ridgway recently wrote Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens asking for military retirement.

Ridgway, who is 60, originally planned to retire in August, but when he made the formal request to Stevens, he advanced the date to June 30.

Taylor, who will be 54 on August 26, commanded the Eighth Army during some of the heaviest fighting in Korea. He was nominated for a two-year term as Chief of Staff.

Says No Reason To Complain About Proposal

Seeks Legislation
To Provide City Tax
'If They Want It'

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)—Gov. William G. Stratton today said Illinois cities "wanted home rule and now we've given it to them" in a tax program. He said the cities have no reason to complain.

Stratton told a news conference he believes the revenue program he and Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago worked out "is as fair to everybody as you can make it."

"The cities asked for new sources of revenue," he said. "We have provided legislation that will permit city governments to pass up to a 1-2 cent sales tax if they want it."

"They wanted home rule and now they've got it. I'm willing to take the responsibility for raising 100 million dollars additional revenue for the state on 1-2 cent sales tax. The city governments will have to take their own responsibility," he said.

Stratton said the 1-2 cent sales tax without referendum and the 5 per cent utilities tax he and Daley proposed is "the greatest help I ever remember cities getting from a state government."

Combine on Program
Stratton and Daley Wednesday announced they would support legislation for the 1-2 cent, two-year sales tax increase; a 1-2 cent city sales tax which city governments can pass without referendum; and a 5 per cent permissive city tax on private utilities.

They also pledged to concentrate all their efforts on getting the Legislature to pass a constitutional revenue article amendment for submission to the voters in 1956.

"The people will still have the final word in the matter of taxation when they vote in 1956 on whether to overhaul the whole tax system," Stratton said.

"The have other means of raising sales tax increase proceeds would be used for schools and welfare."

He disagreed with some city officials who said the Stratton-Daley city tax program gave cities little revenue relief. Springfield Mayor Nelson O. Howarth, retailers and others said the city sales tax would put a penalty on merchants by driving buyers to suburban stores or nearby communities which did not adopt the sales tax.

Says Cities Can Decide
The governor said whether they wanted to use the sales tax was "up to the city officials."

"They have other means of raising money now," he said.

Stratton said he feels many cities will find the utility tax "very attractive." He said the "big weakness" in giving cities the "flat 1-2 cent share of the state tax" that many cities want is that "some of them just don't need more revenue."

On other matters, Stratton said: His proposed "use" tax bill will be amended to conform to the 1-2 cent sales tax increase, assessing a 1-2 per cent tax on all out-of-state purchases by Illinoisans.

In the next two years, the state will "figure out a better formula between state and local financing" for common schools. He said the state's administrative expenses have been held but the "grant program" including school grants has gone up because of a "breakdown of local tax structures."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Evil men shall work worse and worse.—II Tim. 3:13.

There never were so many evil men and indeed whole evil nations. Eternal vigilance is needed and we know the gates of Hell will not prevail against us.

They Were All Mad

Editorial By Bruce Blossat
Recently American newspapers carried a photograph of Rudolf Hess, once the No. 2 Nazi in Hitler's hierarchy, now a gaunt, wild-looking madman. It was a stark reminder that exactly 10 years ago the darkness of total defeat was closing in upon Hitler and his evil henchmen.

They were not all pathologically insane, like Hess, who by then had flown off to England on a weird mission to enlist British support for the war against Soviet Russia. But they were obsessed by power. The Nazi regime had nothing else. It had no philosophy of government. Its doctrines of the "pure Aryan race" were mere window dressing for the excesses of a bloody tyranny. It had no social program.

Nazism was a cult of power, nothing more. Its leaders worshipped power for its own sake. When their world began to crumble about them, and it was clear Hitler had to go, they quarreled and schemed among themselves for what they imagined would be Nazi control of a post-war German government.

That was one of their great follies, for the victorious democracies never had the slightest intention of handing even a tattered shred of power to any Nazi.

When the Allied armies had crushed them, what a transformation had come over that strutting crew of brutal men. Hitler, Goebbels and Himmler were dead by their own hands. Ribbentrop, once the dashing champagne salesman, later Hitler's top diplomat, was found cringing in a dark hideout. Goering, a rumpus hulk, yielded himself to capture with no trace of bravado. Martin Bormann simply vanished.

It was hard to believe that these shells and ghosts of men had built a colossal military juggernaut and sent it hurtling east and west across Europe, spreading ruin and death to many millions. It was hard to believe these men had visited a plague of evil upon the earth for 12 long years.

But they had. Feeding upon human anxieties arising from another war and from the troubles of a baffling industrial age, they had seized the reins of a strong nation and deformed it until it fit their wicked designs.

And when they learned they could not impose their designs upon the most powerful lands beyond the German borders, they exposed the full depth of their viciousness by trying to bring down the house as they collapsed. Hitler even urged that Germany itself be ravaged to prevent the Allies from using its resources.

In this ghastly pursuit, to cheat the winners of the fruits of victory, the Nazis did not wholly fail. For they left Europe a smoking heap of rubble, stripped of its reserves of wealth and much of its young manpower. They left an aching vacuum of power which beckoned irresistibly to the new colossus—Soviet Russia. They left a heritage of problems that may haunt us for many decades.

Yes, doctors likely will say that only Hess among these men was truly insane. But by the broad measure humanity must apply, they were all mad for visiting upon the world this tragedy of ruin and privation and pain.

Forceful Gesture

The American submarine Nautilus has already successfully demonstrated the practicability of atom-powered ocean vessels. But the Nautilus, being a warship, can never serve as an emissary bearing this country's hopes of peace to ports all around the globe.

Therefore it was welcome news that the United States intends to build an atomic merchant ship to be sent around the world as a symbol of this nation's desire to apply nuclear energy for peaceful purposes.

No plan has so caught the imagination of the world as did President Eisenhower's atom-for-peace proposal in December, 1953. But Russian reluctance has stymied any real action in that direction, and meantime peoples hungry for relief from war have seen no concrete demonstration of the atom's possibilities for peace.

A ship powered with nuclear fuel is no substitute for a daring global plan to divert men's energies away from the making of weapons. But as token evidence of what might happen in a climate of better international understanding, it can be a forceful gesture. We must begin somewhere.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Cutter Laboratories once prosecuted for failure to sterilize a vaccine; Public Health Service didn't inspect Salk vaccine because of rush program; Mrs. Hobby let her health services be cut to bone.

WASHINGTON — Here are two backstage facts regarding the manufacture of Salk vaccine which the public should be informed about and which may help explain some of the current unfortunate uncertainty.

1. The Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif., were criminally prosecuted and found guilty in June, 1949, of inadequate sterilization in connection with glucose water and salt water preparations. They were fined $600. This is the same company whose vaccine was removed from use after 38 children contracted polio while taking the shots in California.

2. The Public Health Service which is testing and licensing the vaccine, has not had time to test it, but has accepted the written reports of the drug companies. In the earlier use of the drug last year, every batch was carefully tested both by Dr. Salk and the manufacturer. But this year, in the interest of making the vaccine available in time for the polio season and before the schools close, the Public Health Service has required each drug company to send in samples plus a written statement or "protocol" of the work done on the vaccine, but has made no test.

MONKEY TESTS
Ordinarily, each batch of vaccine is tested by being injected into the brains of 12 healthy monkeys and into the muscle tissue of six other monkeys. The monkeys are then killed and their spinal cords examined. If no live virus is present, the vaccine is pronounced safe. However, this test requires about 30 days. And the Public Health Service, anxious to make the vaccine available to the public as soon as possible, has accepted the manufacturers' tests. The Cutter Laboratories whose vaccine is now under special scrutiny not only was found guilty of inadequate sterilization in 1949 but has been the object of nine other civil suits or "seizures" by the Food and Drug Administration.

Other drug companies, with the exception of Parke-Davis, have not experienced so many seizures. Parke-Davis has also had nine civil suits, Eli Lilly two, Pitman-Moore two, Wyatt three, Sharp and Dohme four.

On the other hand, and in fairness to the Cutter Laboratories, it should be noted that Sterling-Winthrop, one of the biggest drug companies—though it's not making the Salk vaccine—was once fined $16,000 for getting sleeping pills mixed up with a potent drug used to abate fever.

DRUG INSPECTION SUFFERS
Behind this entire question of testing and inspecting drugs is a situation frequently reported by this column in the past—namely, the strangulation of the Food and Drug Administration and the Public Health Service by both certain congressmen and the Eisenhower administration.

Without inspectors, it is impossible for the Food and Drug Administration adequately to inspect drug concerns or food factories. As pointed out in this column on July 26 last year, food and drug appropriations have been cut so low that inspectors are able to inspect chicken-processing plants only once every 12 years.

The Public Health Service, if it had the funds to send inspectors to various drug companies, would be able to check the test of Salk vaccine on the spot. In other words, an inspector could have been present when the drug companies were making their own tests, thus could have saved an additional 30 days. But the Public Health Service has been fighting a desperate battle against critics who call it part of the "welfare state."

Mrs. Hobby herself, head of the Health, Education and Welfare Department, even wrote a letter to congress in 1953 asking that additional funds not be voted to the Public Health Service for cancer research, polio, muscular dystrophy, heart disease, and other research. Democratic congressional leaders overrode her protest and voted the research funds anyway.

The Food and Drug Administration, also under Mrs. Hobby, has likewise suffered at the hands of two Republican congressmen, John Taber of New York and Fred Busbey of Illinois.

Congressman Taber is irked at food and drug because a constituent who invented a bee-keeping machine by which large, coarse bees could be cut down so they looked like small, tender bees, brought his machine to the Food and Drug Administration to get its approval. Its officials frowned on the machine as deceptive, though they never actually banned it.

Whereupon Congressman Taber, then chairman of the powerful House Appropriations committee, slashed food and drug funds. That was two years ago. This year he again made a speech in the secret appropriations hearings about the food and drug's attitude toward his bee-machine constituent. And again he attempted to slash its funds. This time Democratic Congressman John Fogarty of Rhode Island was chairman of the subcommittee and a good part of the funds was restored.

MOUNTAIN VALLEY POLITICS
Last year, Congressman Busbey also got sore because Pure Food and Drug had declared that Mountain Valley Water of Hot Springs, Ark., was not making medicinal and a treatment for gallstones, stomach ulcers, and pregnancy disorders.

However, Mrs. Phyllis Schlafly of Alton, Ill., whose family owns Mountain Valley Water, is the Republican state central committee woman for Illinois' 24th District. She is a good friend of Congressman Busbey, the Illinois Republican.

And Busbey, who sat on the House Appropriations committee last year, managed to knock $100,000 off the already meagre appropriation of the Food and Drug Administration, thus making it all the more difficult for it to protect the public against doctored food and imperfect drugs.

The Public Health Service is charged, under the Virus, Serum, and Toxin Act, with the inspection of Salk polio vaccine. The Food and Drug Administration inspects all other drugs. Both agencies are under the direction of Secretary Hobby.

Mrs. Hobby, though supposed to promote health and education, has shown a strange, negative reluctance toward both. Not only did she oppose medical research, as previously reported, but in 1953 she took a strong stand against hospital construction under the Hill-Burton Act, opposed vocational education and rehabilitation, and tried to cut the school-construction program in congested military and federal areas by $100,000,000.

In every case, Democratic leaders, opposing these cuts, took the issue to the floors of the House and Senate and won. This year, with the exception of the general school-construction program, Mrs. Hobby has fallen much more in line with the views of congress and has not tried to cut the health and education budgets.

DEATH OF A LEGEND

By WILL HENRY

THE STORY: Jesse and Frank James and Cole Younger are staging the first train robbery in history. The event is near Adair, Iowa, on the C. R. I. & P.

XVIII
The engine was through the cut and they could see the ruddy glow of its firebox staining the night. They watched the swing and jerk of the following cars pound rockingly along the narrow-gauge roadbed toward the curve.

The two horses jumped under the drive of their masked rider's spurs. The ropes sang tight, stretched, came away, springing the loosened rails outward. The locomotive, tender, five day coaches and two sleepers left the tracks, lunging wildly along the embankment. The tender-coupling broke free of the lead coach, hurtling the locomotive on down into the river bottom. From the tangled mass of its burning boiler and broken steamline, the fireman staggered free, voice screaming in the agony of the oil-soaked overalls burning on his back. The engineer, trapped in the hissing wreckage, was already dead, instantly scalded by the live steam. Miraculously, the coaches stayed upright.

The wheels of the overturned locomotive were still spinning crazily in mid-air when the first of the dazed passengers tried to fight their way clear of the shambles of wooden seats and shattered glass within the cars. Their efforts were met at the broken vestibule doors by five courteous gentlemen in calico masks.

Cole and Jesse had run their mounts alongside the express car, still on the rails and undamaged. Leaping from their saddles through its open doors, they put the express company messenger under pistol point.

"Open that safe!" rasped Jesse. The company man responded with alacrity. Cole produced the wheat-sack, swept the gold into it. It was plain from the thin stream of it and from its empty jingle in the bottom of the 100 pound sack, that there was far from $100,000 or even any good part of that amount.

"All right!" snarled Jesse angrily. "Where's the rest of it?" "That's all there is of it!" cried the terrified clerk. "That's the whole shipment. There ain't no other safe, you can see that, boys!" "I ought to kill him!" whimpered Jesse, eying the cowering clerk wildly.

The man said nothing. He was a literate man, a man who could read. In the red-dimmed blink of the staring eyes above the knotted bandana, he read death. "Get out!" said Cole to Jesse. He said it flat and harsh, and he took him by the shoulder, shoving him roughly toward the vestibule door at the car's end. "Keep moving, I'm right behind you."

Twisting his head, he hissed under his breath to the clerk: "Don't you move, and don't you say nothing!"

He was back to watching Jesse, then, waiting for him to wheel about and come for him. But he never did. He only kept moving, head down, mumbling incoherently.

At the door he hesitated a moment, but still did not turn. When he had gone through it into the connecting coach ahead, Cole moved after him. At the door he, too, paused, nodding softly to the white-faced messenger.

"You never come closer to it, my friend," He added thoughtfully, "You got any kids?" "Three," stammered the clerk. "A little boy and two girls—" "When they grow up," Cole murmured, "they can tell their kids their grandpapa known Cole Younger."

The bandits fell quickly into the organized spirit of relieving the bewildered passengers of their wallets, rings, watches, petty change and personal trinkets. The whole of the scrambled loot went swiftly into the wheatsack. Cole, was the Southern gentleman incarnate, bowing to the younger ladies, insisting that the older keep their seats and, here and there where he detected a Dixie dialect, their valuables as well. The rest of the gang, caught up by his good humor, enjoyed the entire performance.

Within 25 minutes of the crash, the gang was on its way. "Ding," drawled Cole, owl-sober about it. "When old Cole promises something, he delivers it. Here—" He fished the fat gold watch out of his vest, handed it toward Jesse. "Now, don't drop this one. It's a genuine 21-jewel Swiss super. I borrowed it off a jewelry drummer from Peoria."

His harassed way led south into the Indian Territory and looped back up to the west, through eastern Kansas, covering a distance of 600 miles. The Pinkertons, put on the trail by the C. R. I. & P. and the Adams Express Company within hours of the robbery, pushed them every relentless foot of the way. It was only when they succeeded in losing the detectives in the Missouri River bottoms by crossing and recrossing the Big Muddy three times in 24 hours that they were finally able to slip safely into Clay County.

On July 22, just 12 hours after the wrecking and robbery of the Adair train, a second C. R. I. & P. train passed over the identical, repaired section of track outside Adair. Frank and Cole, it would appear, had made a slight miscalculation in train schedules. It was the 8 a. m. they wanted, not the 8 p. m.

Aboard that second train were $75,000 in government mint gold. (To Be Continued)

Punch-line to the year's hottest power story—

Chevrolet "Turbo-Fire V8"!

This is the engine that's writing a whole new chapter in the book of automobile performance records. This is the engine that has stock car timers doing a "double take" at their stopwatches wherever experts gather to compare the abilities of the 1955 cars.

For example, in the recent NASCAR* stock car competition at Daytona Beach, Florida, Chevrolet literally ran away from every other car in its class—and a raft of others besides. In the one-mile straightaway run for low-priced cars, the first two places—and six of the first ten—went to Chevrolets. And in acceleration runs from a standing start against all comers, the Motoramic Chevrolet beat all other low-priced cars—and every high-priced car except one!

What's behind this blazing performance? A compact honey of a V8 that only the world's leading producer of valve-in-head engines can build. Chevrolet's new "Turbo-Fire V8".

It puts a new kind of fun in your driving life. You're in charge of 162 high-spirited horsepower—or if you're looking for even more excitement, the new "Super Turbo-Fire V8" (optional at extra cost) puts 180 h.p. under your toe!

Pick the one you'd rather have fun with, then come in and get behind the wheel. You'll see why the Motoramic Chevrolet is showing its heels to everyone else on the road!

Homecoming at Bankston Baptist Church Sunday

Bankston Fork Baptist church five miles west and one mile north of Harrisburg in Brushy township will observe its annual homecoming service Sunday, May 15.

LOST 26 LBS. WITH RENNEL RECIPE

SHELBYVILLE, ILL. "I am glad to tell everyone that Rennel Concentrate has really done wonders for me. I have lost 26 lbs. in the past several months without any dieting. I was able to do this thanks to the Rennel home recipe. I might have lost more if I dieted but I would rather take Rennel and let it do the work for me and not be hungry. It is not harmful in any way." So writes Mrs. Harley Jenkins of 412 S. Water St.

This church is 101 years old this spring. On the third Sunday of May, 1954, the 100th anniversary, or centennial, was observed.

This year the service will begin with Sunday school at 9:30 a. m. The morning worship service message will be by the Rev. L. C. Irby, pastor of the Ridgeway Baptist church. There will be an old-fashioned basket dinner and fellowship at the noon hour.

During the afternoon services there will be special singing by the Dorrisville quartet, roll call, and an old-fashioned testimony service.

The Rev. Paul E. Dann, pastor of the church, today extended an invitation to the public to attend these services in behalf of the church.

Although he is commander-in-chief of the U. S. Army and Navy, the President is a civilian and does not appear in the uniform of the Armed Services.

Announce Marriage of Miss Gertrude Wasson and Walter Hayes

In a simple ceremony held Mother's Day, May 8, at the Pankeyville Baptist church Miss Gertrude Wasson became the bride of Walter Hayes. The pastor, Rev. Roy Daniels, performed the single ring service during opening exercises of the Sunday school.

The bride, given in marriage by a favorite nephew, John Wasson of Peoria, chose for her wedding a powder blue wool suit with pink accessories and a corsage of white gardenias. She carried out the old adage "Something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue" by wearing a diamond ring presented to her by her parents on her 25th birthday and a blue lace handkerchief borrowed from her niece, Gertrude Gates Lindsey.

Mrs. Ruth Gates, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing a gray suit with white accessories. Her flowers were a white carnation corsage.

Kallie Sadler served as best man. Before the ceremony the congregation sang "Heavenly Sunlight," the pastor led in prayer and read the familiar scripture, Proverbs 31.

Following the service the couple went to the home of Mrs. Gates where she and Mrs. Elmo Kuppert had prepared a lovely wedding dinner.

Mr. Hayes is employed by the New York Central Railroad Co. They are now making their home at the Wasson home in Pankeyville.

Mr. and Mrs. Busch have a 34 room home on the estate. Also, there is a "coach room" which holds approximately 100 carriages of different styles and models.

Tuesday evening the women attended the stage play at the American Theatre entitled "Solid Gold Cadillac" and spent the night at the Lennox hotel.

Nine members of the Clara Freeman circle of the First Baptist church met with Mrs. Mora Laxton Wednesday afternoon.

Items of business were disposed of, including the arranging of a community project for the month of June.

The program "Give Attention to Reading" was very well stressed by the hymn "Wonderful Words of Life" with Mrs. Lloyd Reynolds at the piano. The devotion from 1 Tim. 4:13 was given by Mrs. Ethel Laxton. "Look: It's Missions" was presented by Mrs. Charles Mitchell, taken from Home Missions, and the Letterettes from the Royal Service program were read by Mrs. Clarice Froman. Mrs. Reynolds dismissed the group with special prayer for those mentioned in the prayer calendar.

Harrisburg B. & P. W. Club Installs New Officers

The Harrisburg Business and Professional Women's club celebrated its 21st anniversary Tuesday evening at the Fellowship hall of the First Christian church.

Mrs. H. C. Lewis read the Club Collect as the invocation after which a delicious chicken dinner was served. A birthday cake, decorated in the club colors of green and yellow with 21 candles, centered the officers' table. As the cake was served the "Happy Birthday" song was sung.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Miss Meriam Evans. The reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and approved and Mrs. Beatrice Sprung was elected to membership.

The president gave an interesting account of the state convention which was held at the Morrison hotel in Chicago April 14-17 and was attended by Mrs. William Sloan Jr., Mrs. Nelle Meyers and Miss Irene Beasley of Eldorado. The club was honored with the reappointment of Mrs. Sloan as State International Relationship chairman.

A beautiful floral installation ceremony was conducted by Mrs. William Sloan. The following officers were installed: President, Miss Meriam Evans; vice president, Mrs. Edna Lewis; treasurer, Mrs. Geneva Mitchell; recording secretary, Mrs. Annabelle Melton; and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Harriet Land. He said the United States should give them economic help because "each is making a very substantial contribution to the military, political, and psychological defense of the West."

Surgeon General Predicts Enough Vaccine for All Children in 5-9 Age Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is "likely" to give a go-ahead this afternoon for resumption of the polio vaccination program with a limited amount of rechecked Salk vaccine.
Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele told House investigators today he expected to release for immediate use batches of the vaccine produced by Parke Davis Drug Co.

He said that "with good fortune" enough vaccine still will be produced and released to vaccinate all children aged 5 through 9—the most susceptible group—with two shots before the peak of the polio season this summer.

There are 16 million children in this group, requiring 32 million shots. When vaccinations were stopped in most places last week-end, 5 1/2 million shots had been given.

Scheele said he would not know until late today whether he could announce immediate release of all or only part of the Parke Davis vaccine.

No National Emergency
Called before the House Banking Committee to testify about the confused polio program, Scheele made these points as the session went into the early afternoon:

1. Manufacturers have agreed to ship all vaccine to the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis until it has sufficient for administering 18 million shots. That would provide two shots—the number recommended this year—for 9 million children. The foundation's program is limited to children in the first and second grades.
2. Only 8 million shots have been shipped thus far. This includes some "in the pipeline" for second shots in some southern states. Therefore the vaccine will be un-

Seeks $2,950 Damages for Injuries

Mary Gwaltney seeks $2,950 damages from The Kroger Co. in a complaint on file in circuit court, the complaint charging she was injured in the Eldorado Kroger store April 21, 1951.

The complaint, filed for her by Atty. K. C. Ronalds and Atty. W. T. Dennis, says that a jar of mayonnaise fell from a shelf or counter in the store striking her ankle and injuring it to the extent that an operation was necessary.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

Track and field competition—the sport where times, distance and height is the determining factor—enters the district meet schedules this week end and Friday and Saturday, May 20 and 21, the state finals are scheduled.

Preliminaries in the district meet staged at SIU were held this afternoon and the finals are scheduled for this evening, starting at 7:30.

Three Saline county high choles—Harrisburg, Eldorado and Carrier Mills—will participate in the meet. Individuals will be trying for the right to go to the state meet. Winners of first and second places in the districts advance to state competition. Others also can be eligible for the state by equaling or exceeding standards determined by the IHSAA, but the standards are high and not many men without placing either one in the district.

A look at the honor roll for track and field performances this season throughout the state reveals only one southern Illinois athlete in the list. Mason of Centralia has the best pole vault performance, 27'2".

Other top performances in Illinois in 1955 are—100 yard dash, 9.9, Estes, N. Chicago;

220-yard dash, :21.7, Rechford, Blue Island;

440-yard dash, :50.9, Lattimore, Phillips and Minard, Evanston;

Half-mile, 1:57.7, Robertson, Tilden Tech;

1 mile, 4:23.7, Bowers, DeKalb; High hurdles, :14.1, May, Blue Island;

Low hurdles, :19.4, May, Blue Island;

880-yard relay, 1:30.3, New Trier; Mile relay, 3:28.5, Oak Park;

Shot put, 53.9-54, Wallace, New Trier;

Discus, 159.9, Hickman, Oak Park;

Broad jump, 22-1 3/4, Abner, E. Peoria;

High jump, 6-1 3/4, Foster, E. Aurora and Dickson, Danville.

A look at these figures reveal that practically all top performers in track and field come from the northern part of the state. Mason of Centralia is in southern Illinois and Dickson of Danville represents central Illinois. "Up" north claims all the rest.

Johnny Evers, native of Salem, will be football coach at Metropolis high school next season, it has been announced. He will succeed Charles Hopson. Evers will be head football coach and assist with basketball and baseball. Hopson will remain on the Metropolis faculty and among other duties will supervise the intramural and recreation programs. During five seasons, Hopson-coached Metropolis teams won 18, lost 19 and had one tie.

Dr. and Mrs. L. I. Webb returned Thursday from Peoria, where they attended the 91st annual meeting of the Illinois Dental Society, held in the Piere Marquette hotel, May 9, 10, 11, and 12.

Dr. Webb was on the program to give a talk on "The Proper Use of the Telephone in a Dental Office," which he demonstrated with phones loaned by M. H. Lynch, local telephone manager. Seven hundred and fifty-two were registered at the convention.

While in Peoria Dr. and Mrs. Webb visited their daughter, Roberta, wife of Richard J. Ausfahl, the fourth.

Gov. Stratton Defends Howell On Road Ass'n

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton today defended Toll Road Commission Chairman Evan Howell's formation of the National Turnpike Assn., which tried to collect $1,000 membership fees from private firms.

Stratton was asked at a news conference for his "impressions" of the Illinois House's special investigation into the toll road program.

"I believe the investigation has cleared the atmosphere," Stratton said. "It has pointed out that we followed the act conservatively as we believed we had all along. The whole program has been publicized all along, but this has given the Legislature a chance to see how it works."

Says Howell Explained

Stratton, who is an ex-officio member of the Toll Road Commission and supported legislation for its creation in 1937, was asked about Howell's formation of the turnpike association and whether he thought it proper.

"Howell has explained that very thoroughly," Stratton said. "When there was evidence there was some opposition to it, he disassociated himself from it."

The governor went on to say there are "many such organizations" with both private and public members and "it was never for private interest."

"But would you permit other state officials to do the same thing?" a newsman asked.

"I didn't say I'd permit it, but there are a great number of such organizations operating," Stratton said.

Howell formed the turnpike association in February, 1954 and was its chairman. Invitations to join at a $1,000 membership fee and $250 annual dues went out to firms interested in toll road business. Public turnpike authorities could join for $50.

Calls Opposition "Shameful"

Stratton blasted the opposition to the Toll Road Commission as "shameful," short-sighted, hampering progress. He said nothing was going to stop toll roads in Illinois and that the commission's work has been "praiseworthy."

Red Viet Minh Troops Take Over Haiphong

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—Communist Viet Minh troops waving clenched fists thundered triumphantly in Haiphong today in Soviet-built Molotov trucks and the Iron Curtain slammed down on Indochina's best naval base.

France surrendered her last foothold in northern Viet Nam to the Communist regime of Ho Chi Minh today under the terms of the Geneva conference.

The French tricolor was struck at dawn, signaling the end of 70 years of French rule over what was one of the brightest jewels in the once-proud colonial empire. The crimson Communist banner studied with gold stars was hoisted in bloodless victory over the city's citadel as it was over her sister city, Hanoi, months ago.

Jubilant convoys of natty black and green-clad Communist troops rumbled into the once-teeming Tonkin port city on the heels of the retreating French troops.

Signs Bill to Cut Down On Vagrants On State Farm

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—A bill to cut down on the sentencing of vagrants to the Vandalia State Farm, called "a bum's Miami" in the Legislature, was signed into law today.

The bill will permit only courts of record to sentence men to Vandalia. Police magistrates and justices of the peace have been charged with unloading vagrants on the state institution instead of making the county support them.

Rep. Carl H. Prehls (D-Pana) said Vandalia had become a "bum's Miami" where vagrants like to go in the winter. He said it was the "only place in the world where bums get steak to music."

Prehls said the farm had its own orchestra which played during meals.

Gov. William G. Stratton also signed five other bills which:

Outline procedure for hospitalizing tubercular Illinois State Farm patients.

Appropriate $678,000 for improvements at the Illinois State Fairgrounds.

Michigan to Dominate Big Ten Relays

CHICAGO (AP)—Michigan's Big Ten indoor track champions are expected to dominate the second annual conference relays Saturday evening though no team trophy will be awarded for the competition at Northwestern.

The Wolverines entered a 32-man squad for the 16-event program and nominated a team for each of the six relay events. Michigan boasted six athletes who have registered the best time of the conference outdoor competition so far this year.

In addition to the relays, there will be five individual races, the 100 yard dash, 120 yard high hurdles, 220 yard low hurdles, mile and one half run and the weightman's dash, and five field events, broad jump, pole vault, discus, shot put and high jump.

Michigan was expected to be a strong contender in both the two mile and distance medley relays with two indoor champions, John Moule, the mile victor, and Pete Gray, the half-mile titleholder, set to compete in both events.

Moule has registered the best time in the conference in the outdoor mile this season, 4:17, while Grey's best time for the half mile has been 1:54.6, bettered only by 1:52.3 set by Henry Cryer of Illinois.

Illinois, which last year won three of the relays, entered only the sprint medley and distance medley events this year. Minnesota's foursome of Bill Garner, Jack Dryer, Buti Carmichael and Harry Nash, winner of the sprint medley at the Drake Relays, was rated the major contender for this event.

The mile relay was expected to be a battle between Michigan's quartet of Laird Sloan, Dave Hessler, Dick Flodin and Grey and the Indiana team of Mike Cusick, Jim Cley, Don Ward and Len Robinson. Michigan's best time has been 3:13.5 while Indiana posted 3:14.3 in the Drake meeting, pushing Oklahoma A&M to a new Drake record of 3:11.7.

Jim Golliday of Northwestern, boasting a .95 time this season, was a heavy favorite in the 100 yard dash, while Willard Thomson of Illinois, defending outdoor and indoor champion, was rated the probable winner of the high hurdles.

Rain Postpones Baseball Tourney

Rainfall has postponed the district high school baseball tournament scheduled to start in Harrisburg today.

Lawrence Caluffetti, athletic director, said that the series would start Monday, if weather permits by then.

The Grayville-Carmi and Shawneetown-McLeansboro contests, scheduled for this afternoon, will be played at 3:30 p. m. Monday instead. Then on Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. Harrisburg will meet the Grayville-Carmi winner and Carrier Mills will face the winner of Shawneetown-McLeansboro tilt.

On Wednesday the winners will play for the championship, the winner to play the winner of the Monday contest.

Braves Hand Dodgers Second Straight Loss, 2-1; Jones Hurls No-Hitter for Cubs

By United Press
The Milwaukee Braves were back in the National League pennant race today because Del Crandall made a pre-game boast come true.

"I'm gonna hit one tonight," the 24-year old catcher said before the Braves took on the Brooklyn Dodgers Thursday night. "I just feel it in my bones."

Twelve innings later Crandall hammered a 405-foot homer into the center-field bleachers to give Gene Conley and the Braves a 2-1 triumph over the Dodgers and their fifth victory in six games.

The blow, off relief pitcher Ed Roebuck, broke up a magnificent pitchers' duel between Conley and Carl Erskine. Erskine retired after the 11th in favor of Roebuck, whose second pitch of the 12th inning was hit out of the park by Crandall.

Pitches Six-Hitter
Conley, who dropped a 2-0, 12-inning decision to Erskine in Brooklyn on May 2, yielded only six hits and one run—a homer by Sandy Amoros. Hank Aaron blasted a 420-foot homer off Erskine to provide the Braves with their first run.

The victory was Conley's fourth of the year and his sixth in nine meetings with the Dodgers during his career. It was the Dodgers' second straight loss after they won 22 of their first 24 games.

Sam Jones pitched a no-hitter to give the Chicago Cubs a 4-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the only other National League game. In the American league, the Washington Senators shut out the Cleveland Indians, 3-0, the Chicago White Sox beat the Baltimore Orioles, 6-2, and the Boston Red Sox downed the Kansas City Athletics, 12-7.

Lones, cast off by the Indians in the Ralph Kiner deal, struck out three batters in the ninth inning after walking the first three to climax the first no-hitter of the 1955 campaign. The powerful right-hander walked seven but struck out six in scoring the first no-hitter by a Cub pitcher in 38 years. He has won four games and lost three this year.

Score Loses Second
Mickey McDermott tossed a four hitter for his second win and handed rookie phenom Herb Score his second loss as the Senators snapped the Indians' six-game winning streak. McDermott struck out nine batters and Score seven.

The White Sox scored four runs in the ninth inning to win their 10th game in 14 starts and move within two games of the first-place Indians. Bob Nieman singled home

House Approves Eisenhower Military Cuts, 382-0; Senate Fights Marine Reduction

WASHINGTON (UP) — Democrats on the Senate Appropriations Committee drew up their battle lines today to reverse the administration on manpower cuts in the Marine Corps.

Both the Marine Corps and the Army are scheduled for cutbacks under President Eisenhower's new defense budget. But the Democrats concede there is little chance Congress will restore the Army strength.

Instead, Senate Democrats are concentrating on reversing the scheduled 22,000-man cut in the Marine Corps. But they face an uphill battle in view of the House's overwhelming endorsement of Mr. Eisenhower's plan to cut overall military strength to 2,850,000 men by mid-1956.

The House approved the president's plan intact Thursday and voted a whopping $31,488,206,000 defense budget for the next fiscal year. The roll call vote was 382 to 0.

The House members shouted down amendments, offered by Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa.), to restore some of the manpower cuts by adding $413,793,500 to the bill. This would have maintained Army and Navy strength at 1,100,000 and 665,000 men respectively.

The administration plans to cut the Army to 1,025,000 men by July 1, 1956, and the Navy to 657,000 men.

One of Flood's amendments would have restored the Marine Corps to a previously planned 215,000 goal. Present administration plans call for a cut in Marine strength to 205,000 this July 1 and 193,000 by July 1, 1956.

Fire Destroys Two Blocks of Brooklyn Area

NEW YORK (UP) — One of the biggest fires in New York history destroyed two square blocks of a Brooklyn industrial area in a three-hour rampage Thursday night, injuring 15 men and causing damage estimated at 2 million dollars.

Apparently caused by spontaneous combustion in a sawdust hopper of the Varick planing and molding mill, the fire burned with such fierce heat that it melted a ton of nails in one of the plants.

Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. said 400 firemen and 70 pieces of equipment were used to fight the blaze, constituting the greatest concentration to fight a New York fire since the big Standard Oil fire in 1919. Eleven alarms brought equipment from Brooklyn, Manhattan and Long Island fire stations.

The fire, which for a time threatened a terminal containing 1,500,000 gallons of oil, leveled a wood mill plant, two lumber yards, a paint manufacturing firm and several small industrial plants.

None of the injured firemen were badly hurt and all were treated on the scene.

Three employees in the Varick plant fought the fire with hand extinguishers after the sawdust hopper exploded but it soon spread out of control. By the time firemen arrived, the heat was already so intense it forced them back several times.

Pass Bill Making Cities Liable for Police, Firemen

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — The Illinois Senate Thursday passed 27-8 a bill making downstate municipalities liable for damages for acts of police and firemen who are on duty.

The bill drew fire from city officials attending a Municipal League meeting here last week. Springfield Mayor Nelson O. Hawthorth said it would make cities responsible for "negligence" of policemen and firemen.

Sen. Glen O. Jones (R-Raleigh) said financing of insurance for such liability would be "prohibitive" for small municipalities.

Sen. Clyde C. Trager (R-Peoria), sponsor of the measure, said it requires cities to "back up police and firemen" in the line of duty.

Sen. James W. Gray (East St. Louis) spoke for the bill. He said an East St. Louis policeman was successfully sued recently for damages caused in a chase with a speeder.
